

What is the MoCC?

The first of its kind in the world, the Jockey Club Museum of Climate Change (MoCC) offers an interactive and multimedia exhibition showcasing valuable collections and information about climate change. It is an ideal venue for the public, especially students and teachers, to champion the cause of environmental stewardship and keep themselves abreast of the latest developments on environmental conservation and sustainability. Extended activities of the MoCC exhibition include an eco-tour that guides visitors around the prime ecological sites and green facilities on the vast CUHK campus, and a variety of workshops and activities that promote green living.

The MoCC is managed by the Social Responsibility and Sustainable Development Office at CUHK. It works closely with the Hong Kong Chapter of the UN Sustainable Development Solutions Network (SDSN Hong Kong) in accelerating action on the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

The sums are payable on a monthly basis and only after completion of the knowledge training. A certificate of completion will be awarded to each of the students who graduates from the ambassadorship.
